ABOUT US

Since 2016, we 'the Mojoz' have been creating sustainable lighting with a good cause connected to it. Our lamps are made from sustainable or recycled materials and designed to do good, for people and for the planet. We see ourselves as a small giant, where you do not have to be big to be great.

We develop sustainable lighting with a purpose. Each light is made from sustainable or recycled materials like bamboo, ash wood, paper rope, and linen. We like to lead the way in our industry to a better future, where doing good is the new normal.

We, the Mojoz, like to dream big! We strive to create a fully circular lamp that lasts for generations and leaves no trace behind. Step by step, we're working toward that future. Until then, we keep learning and pushing ourselves to show that beautiful design and sustainability belong together.

BUY LIGHT, GIVE LIGHT

Every GOOD&MOJO lamp lights more than your home. Through our partnership with the WakaWaka Foundation, each purchase helps provide solar lamps to families living without electricity. Our goal is to help 20.000 families by 2030. Until now we have helped 9934 families. So when you buy light, you also give light.

DESIGNING WITH A PURPOSE

Our design team is making more conscious and thoughtful choices when developing new lighting designs. Sustainability is becoming a central part of our creative process. We aim to minimize material use while maximizing the integration of natural, recycled, and recyclable materials.

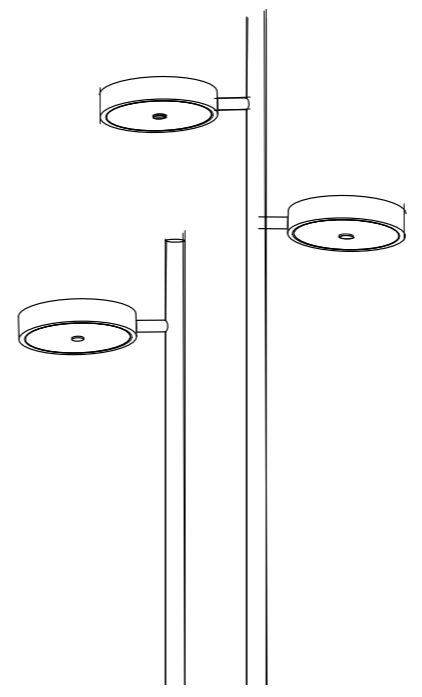

We believe that product design holds the power to shape a better future. That's why we are embracing the principles of the circular economy, rethinking how we create, use, and reuse our products. We are also taking a closer look at our production methods, making intentional decisions that prioritize more sustainable materials and processes.

Design processes can be chaotic. The journey toward clarity and the final result often moves through a mix of doubt and disorder. Among piles of ideas, cardboard models, material samples, and a lot of coffee, a surprisingly creative space appears.

Creating a simple design requires searching through many possibilities, just as it did with the Okinawa collection.

The Okinawa collection is designed entirely from scratch. We wanted a series of lamps that are sleek and modern, yet soft in appearance, with fixtures that provide functional lighting. The tiltable shades and three-step dimming allow you to direct light exactly where you need it. Crafted from ash wood and available in three beautiful colours, the cylindrical forms give the design a gentle and refined character.

COLLECTION 2026

COLLECTION 2026

For this new GOOD&MOJO collection, we've introduced a small selection of lampshades made from plant-based materials and are gradually expanding our range with lamps crafted from other sustainable resources. Sustainability also extends behind the scenes: we've improved our packaging, and one of our lamp families is proudly produced in Holland, making this collection even more eco-conscious.

CORSICA Wall lamp

A new family of lamps made in Holland. The Corsica collection, crafted from Alder wood, combines natural materials with timeless design. These lamps are produced in the Netherlands, which reduces transport emissions and supports local craftsmanship, making them a more sustainable choice. The wall lamp emits indirect light, creating a beautiful, warm glow on the wall, and features a small built-in shelf, perfect for placing everyday items such as keys in the hallway.
